The idea behind this fifth Dodeskaden mix was to gather the old tunes with the tempo around 165 bpm and show that they still rock. Sometimes it is not possible to play the classics with contemporary tracks because they sound a little bit funny so high-pitched.

A lot of these old ones were featured in TV shows in the 90s. I was hugely impressed by them as a high school kid and they made great impact on the whole Genom music project. I barely heard a lot of them in other DJ mixes (like "Planeteria" or "Vanishing Point"). Some of them weren't known to the larger public and I found them thanks to music magazines like Machina or Techno Party. In an endeavor to feature them all I've decided to mix the tunes into 3 sets.

I always wanted to show all these tunes to the world and I think that after 20 years it is not too late to do this. Enjoy!

This mix is available as free, downloadable mp3 file. All rights belong to their respective owners. It was created with two Pioneer CDJ-1000MK3 and Allen & Heath Xone:43C. All was recorded with Focusrite Scarlett 18i8.
